If the present wet weather continues farmers may have to hunt up their old armstrong reapers and cut their wheat with elbow grease. The consolation they would get out of it would be in putting one over on the binder twine trust.

Wake up, Confederate Corners, and show your colors once again.

Remember These?

When the farmer harvested his grain with a reaper.

When every small town had a tannery.

The old fashioned man who carried his handkerchief in his hat.

When it was not a rare thing to see a woman smoke a pipe.

When men wore black spats coats in summer.

The old fashioned well, operated with a windlass. A number of years ago there were several of these wells in Louisville.—Herald.

SALUTE THE FLAG

BY HENRY C. BUNNER

Off with your hat as the flag goes by!
And let the heart have its say;
You're man enough for a tear in your eye
That you will not wipe away.

You're man enough for a thrill that goes
To your very finger-tips;
Ay! the lump just then in your throat
That arose
Spoke more than your parted lips.

Lift up your boy on your shoulder high,
And show him the faded shred—
Those stripes would be red as the sunset sky
If death could have dyed them red.

The old tune thunders through all the air,
And strikes right into the heart;
If ever it calls for you, boy, be there!
Be there, and ready to start.

Off with your hat as the flag goes by!
Uncover the youngster's head!
Teach him to hold it holy and high,
For the sake of its sacred dead.
